A new concept in endodontic education

simplyendo offers a new concept in endodontic education for dentists and clinical assistants.

We take an interactive approach to ensure that you are aware of the very latest endodontic techniques. Discussion and hands-on training form the basis of our programme.

Introducing simplyendo

Dr Mike Horrocks BDS, MSc established his endodontic practice in 1998, and now receives referrals from over 400 dentists in the north of England. The practice is based in the Hunts Cross Dental Centre, Liverpool. Mike and his team of Clinical Assistants are very experienced in endodontic care.

Mike graduated from the University of Liverpool in 1984 and has a master's degree in endodontics from Manchester, where he now teaches endodontics to postgraduate students on a part-time basis. He launched the simplyendo education programme in 2003, and it has proved to be very popular with dentists who wish to advance their knowledge and skills in this field.

The programme is offered at several locations in the UK. Mike also regularly speaks at national and international endodontic meetings and arranges demonstrations of new endodontic techniques.

The simplyendo programme

Ten-day endodontic coaching programme for dentists (spread over ten months)

This programme provides in-depth training in the latest endodontic techniques and skills. Your confidence in cleaning, shaping and filling root canals will increase - and become more profitable and enjoyable.

Your investment: includes tuition, hand-outs, lunch and refreshments.

In addition, we offer:

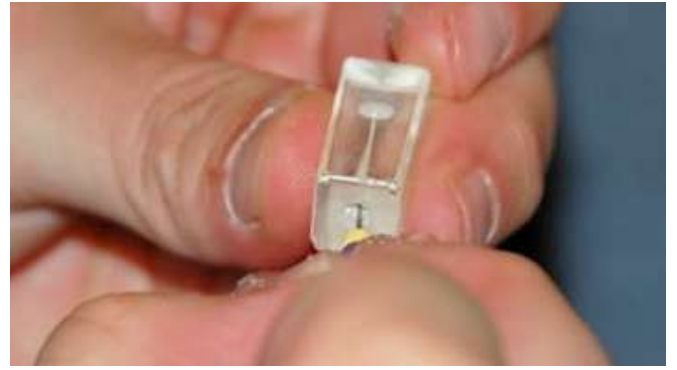

One-day endodontic coaching programme for clinical assistants

We encourage dentists to bring their clinical assistants to join them on module 8 of their ten-day programme. Their involvement promotes understanding throughout the whole dental team.

Your investment: includes tuition, hand-outs, lunch and refreshments.

The number of delegates on each programme is limited to ensure one-to-one coaching wherever possible.

Perfect your endodontic skills

Our programme for dentists is well-structured, with plenty of time for hands-on training and interactive discussions. Each component is backed up by extensive, and useful, reading lists.

We aim to develop your skills in:

- Diagnosis and treatment planning for patients in pain
- Predictable management of curved canals
- Retreatments
- Endodontics through crowns and bridge abutments
- Management of calcified canals
- Management of traumatised teeth
- Management of iatrogenic damage, such as perforations and separated instruments

We discuss:

An update on the latest NiTi systems
Magnification in endodontics
Contemporary obturation techniques
Apex locators and pulp testers
Bleaching discoloured teeth
Digital radiography
Practice management and fee structures

I would say this is a 'must do' course. The hands-on side has been invaluable and the interactive nature of the seminar/lectures very informative and useful. It's refreshing, informative and fun. I will have no hesitation whatsoever in recommending this course to anyone. I can only see the private endodontic side of our practice going from strength to strength. The investment is well worth it.

AF, St Helens

Very informative, learnt loads, lots of very relevant information, and loved the tutorial style presentations. The hands-on sessions were excellent, unbiased and an unprecedented opportunity to try out everything on the market. Changed my way of providing endodontic treatment, and would thoroughly recommend the course to everyone out there!!

HE, Northwich
